40th Annual Scientific Meeting of the
Australasian Neuroscience Society

8-11 December
Perth Convention and Exhibition Centre

Welcome to the 40th Australasian Neuroscience Society Annual Scientific Meeting.

2020 is typically associated with hindsight, and whilst this will be a great opportunity to reflect on the past 40 years, the theme of the ASM highlights Perth as a progressive, forward-thinking centre for Australasian neuroscience. Hence Perth 2020: a Forward Vision.

As we celebrate and reflect on 40 years of ANS, the future of neuroscience has never been more exciting. Our local organising committee, chaired jointly by Associate Professor Stuart Hodgetts, Dr Ann-Maree Vallence and Associate Professor Julian Heng, are working together to ensure that Perth 2020 has a stimulating scientific program, including Nobel Laureate Professor Edvard Moser to give a new Presidential Lecture, as well as international and national plenaries, symposia, and satellite meetings.

In addition, we are working on an exciting social and celebratory program to mark this special occasion.

We look forward to seeing you in Perth in December 2020!

The ANS Annual Scientific Meeting – 39 years and going strong

The Australasian Neuroscience Society (ANS), encompassing both Australia and New Zealand, is one of Australasia's largest biomedical societies. ANS was founded in 1971 making it one of the world's oldest neuroscience societies. Our society enables interactions and links between the laboratory and clinic, between different disciplines, between experienced and young scientists and between neuroscientists and the public to embrace the wonder of, and challenges posed by, the human brain and nervous system.

We are highly respected internationally as a leading organisation, particularly in the Asia-Pacific region. Our members come from diverse disciplines and work in laboratories, classrooms and clinical environments. We have joint arrangements to promote neuroscience in the region with the Federation of Asian-Oceanian Neuroscience Societies (FAONS) and the Asia-Pacific regional committee of the International Brain Research Organisation (IBRO). More broadly, ANS has close links with the Federation of European Neuroscience Societies (FENS) and the Society for Neuroscience (SfN) in the USA.

The ANS Annual Scientific Meeting is one of the largest annual biomedical meetings held in the Australasian region. What started out four decades ago as a 150-person meeting has grown into a major meeting of up to 700 delegates attending presentations by numerous highly acclaimed national and international experts.

The 2020 meeting represents an excellent opportunity for your organisation to be represented to a wide audience. The ASM is ideally placed to offer an unparalleled opportunity to meet these individuals in a face-to-face environment.

Your partnership will enable you to ask key questions and gain significant market intelligence, developing an essential platform from which to promote your products, and ultimately, to increase your market penetration.

Don't miss the exciting opportunity to showcase your organisation at this national meeting. The current and next generation of Australasia's brightest minds will be there to meet you.

We invite you to take some time to read through the opportunities available, and how you can contribute to a brighter future for Australian and New Zealand brain science.

The 2020 meeting represents an excellent opportunity for your organisation to be represented to a wide audience.

We want to enhance the quality of life for our citizens through advances in understanding of the nervous system, and with your help, we can.
